

Andrey Remarenko

Zest Leaders Consultant

Zest member: since 2016

Education: St. Petersburg State University (Faculty of Psychology, Department of Organizational Psychology)

Experience: Volunteer Team Leader at the St. Petersburg International Gas Forum for several years

About myself: For three summers I worked as a team building training instructor. I am firmly convinced that the key factor to achieve the goal is the team made of "right" people relevant to this goal. I consider the possibility of communication, a dialogue, to be the driver of the mankind. I have a special interest in coaching and Carl Jung.