

Natalie Smolina

Zest Leaders Consultant

In Zest: since 2016.

Experience: I delivered university lectures at the Faculties of Economics and Psychology, worked as a professional orientation consultant, as an assistant psychologist in children's centers and in a state military department – I was delivering lectures and trainings to seamen and officers, doing psychodiagnostic tests.

Education:

Master's degree: St. Petersburg State University, Social Psychology;

Bachelor degree: St. Petersburg State University, Psychology.

About myself: I believe the most important things in life are to advance and to go beyond. Childhood ballet classes and music school fostered in me love to the classical art from an early age. Now my hobby list includes postcrossing, running, reading, studying art history, attending theater, philharmonic, museums, Hermitage lectures.
